BRINGING BEN 10 TO LIFE ONLINE!

Everyone knows about the great Ben 10 Alien Force television show on Cartoon Network – but did you know there's more Ben 10 Alien Force action in new stop motion videos on ben10.LEGO.com?

LEGO Club Magazine sat down with Patrick Boivin, ace animator, to talk about how he made these awesome new Ben 10 Alien Force videos.

Q: Hi Patrick! Can you tell us (and LEGO Club members) just what "stop motion animation" is?

A: Stop motion is the basis of animation. It means that you create each individual image of a movie. Normally, movies are 24 images per second, but in animation, it can go from 24 to 1 image per second.

Q: What's the secret to getting your animated characters to move so realistically?

A: You have to take your time, think about it, make the moves yourself in front of a mirror ... and start all over again if you're not satisfied with the result.

Q: What's the biggest secret to making an awesome stop motion animated movie?

A: Before you even think of starting an animation, you need a good idea.

"Before you even think of starting an animation, you need a good idea."

Q: Where do you get your ideas?

A: It's a tricky question. I have been doing short movies and animations for a long time now. And the more you ask your brain for ideas, the easier it is for it to give you great ones. In fact, I think that it's mostly a question of timing. An idea I have this year would be quite different if I had it next year.

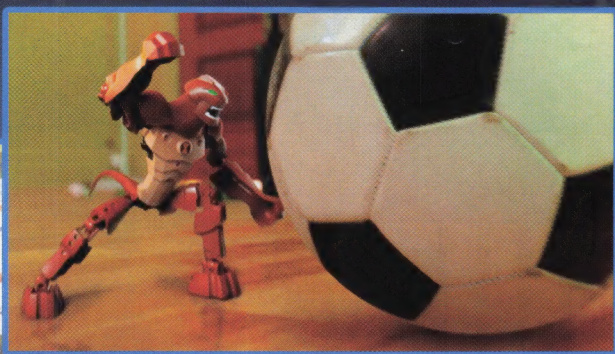

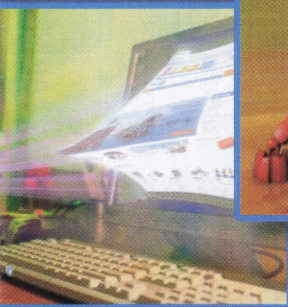

And we're out of time now – but you can catch the whole interview with Patrick on LEGO Club TV at

<http://LEGOclub.com>

Q: Do you have a favorite Ben 10 Alien Force alien to work with?

A: My favorite is Swampfire.

Q: What's the hardest part of making these videos?

A: It's a hard process from the beginning to the end, but when you look at the character taking life once you're done, it's always really satisfying.

Q: Do you have any tips for LEGO Club member who might want to make their own stop motion movies using their LEGO collections?

A: Yes. Take your time to think about it, and take your time to make it. ■

The LEGO City Fire Helicopter is always ready to fly to save the day - but did you know that real fire helicopters are out fighting wildfires every day?

Fire helicopters are used all over the US to battle fires in places that firefighters on foot would have a hard time reaching. Using helicopters to fight fires from the air is called "helitack."

BATTLING BLAZES FROM THE SKY!

A FIRE HELICOPTER MIGHT DO ANY ONE OF THESE DANGEROUS JOBS, OR MORE:

- Dropping supplies down to firefighters.
- Evacuating wounded to hospitals.
- Delivering firefighters to a drop point so they can start fighting the wildfire.
- Dropping water from its bucket onto a fire. A helicopter bucket can carry as much as 700 gallons of water.

Helitack crews are considered to be elite firefighters, and have been since the first use of helicopters in firefighting back in 1947. LEGO City citizens can breathe easier knowing the brave crew of the Fire Helicopter are there to keep them safe! ■

...THATAWAY!

THEN OFF WE GO TO THE RESCUE!

MEANWHILE, SOMEWHERE IN THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION...

KEEP SEARCHING! HE'S GOT TO BE AROUND SOMEWHERE.

I DON'T THINK THAT JEDI IS HERE, SIR.

HEY, BATTLE DROIDS! LOOKING FOR ME?

UM... THAT DEPENDS. WHO ARE YOU?

AW, C'MON. IT'S ME, ANAKIN SKYWALKER! JEDI KNIGHT AND GALACTIC HERO!

DON'T YOU RECOGNIZE ME? I'M PRETTY FAMOUS...

PSST...IS HE THE ONE WE'RE AFTER?

I DUNNO. THESE HUMANS ALL LOOK THE SAME TO ME.

MAYBE YOU'LL REMEMBER ME AFTER THIS!

YIKES! YEP, HE'S THE ONE!

HELP! DON'T LEAVE ME OUT HERE WITH THE ANGRY JEDI!

INSIDE THE NEARBY SEPARATIST SHUTTLE, A MYSTERIOUS FIGURE WATCHES THE BATTLE.

SKYWALKER MAY HAVE THE UPPER HAND FOR NOW, BUT HE WILL SOON LEAD ME TO THOSE CODES...

...WHETHER HE KNOWS IT OR NOT!

ORK ORK ORK!

AW, NO NEED TO THANK ME, FRIEND. IT'S ALL IN A DAY'S WORK FOR ANAKIN SKYWALKER, JEDI KNIGHT!

I DO STILL NEED TO FIND A WAY HOME, THOUGH...

BIONICLE
STARS

BIRTH OF A BIONICLE® STARS VIDEO!

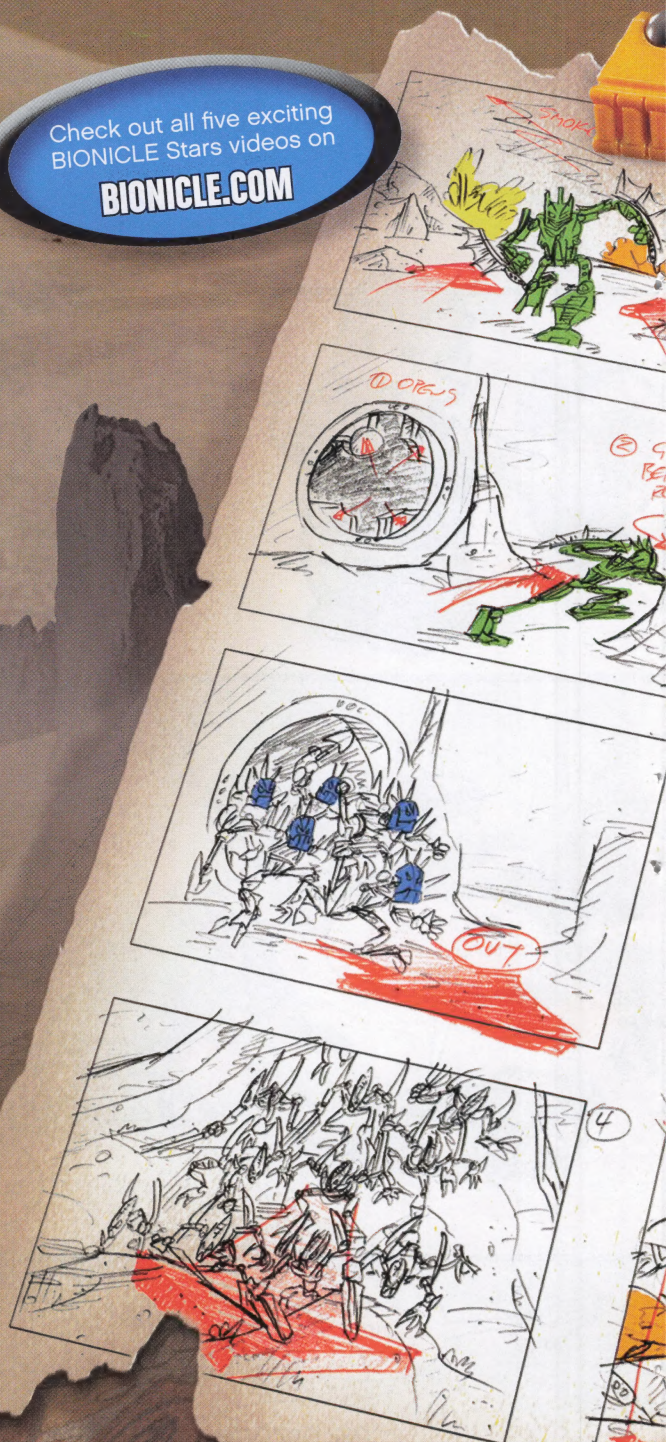

Did you know there are awesome new BIONICLE Stars videos on BIONICLE.com - Tahu vs. the Piraka, Takanuva vs. the Rahkshi, the amazing saga of the golden armor, and more? And did you ever wonder just how videos like these are made?

Once a script is written, the animator makes storyboards, just like the ones on these pages. The storyboard is almost like a comic strip without the words. It maps out, picture by picture, what is going to happen in the animation.

Why do animators use storyboards? Doing animation takes a lot of time and can be very expensive. Planning out exactly how many scenes need to be done, and in what order, saves both time and money.

Take a look at the storyboards on this page and then try to match them up with the Final videos on BIONICLE.com. It's a great way to see how a BIONICLE video goes from being just sketches on a piece of paper to an action-packed movie. You can even try making a storyboard yourself for your own BIONICLE mini-movie! ■

Check out all five exciting
BIONICLE Stars videos on BIONICLE.COM

FUN FACTS

- The storyboarding process was invented in the 1930s, and is still done in the same way today.
- Editing together images from a storyboard into a video is called making an "animatic." Animatics are usually the next step after storyboarding, and sometimes feature a rough soundtrack.
- Storyboards were also used for the four BIONICLE direct to video movies, the BIONICLE TV commercials, and other BIONICLE.com videos.

ALERT: INTERCEPTED IMPERIAL MESSAGE

PRIORITY COMMUNICATION TO DARTH VADER

FROM: IMPERIAL HIGH COMMAND

SECURITY STATUS: CLASSIFIED

Lord Vader, it is my honor to report that the development of the experimental TIE Defender is finally complete. This powerful single-pilot starfighter will at last provide our Forces with a suitable counter to the Rebel Alliance's fastest and most dangerous vehicles. It has been upgraded with deflector shields to block enemy laser fire and an internal hyperdrive engine allows it to be deployed into battle all across the galaxy. The standard pair of solar panels has been upgraded to three, providing 40% more flight speed and greater maneuverability than even our swiftest TIE Interceptor. In addition, its weapon systems have been enhanced to deliver devastating firepower that no Rebel ship will be able to withstand.

Victory will soon be ours! ■
